Disparities in Cancer Care, the Vision of ASCO:
how FLASCO can help support ASCO in reaching those goals

Course Description: The Florida Society of Clinical Oncology is hosting a two day meeting designed for medical oncologists, hematologists, radiation oncologists, surgical oncology, pathologists, oncology nurses, nurse practitioners, pharmacists, physician assistants, oncology administrators, residents, and fellows that manage health care for cancer patients. This conference will provide an emphasis on multidisciplinary collaboration among all professional health care teams with dynamic educational tracks that focus on specific driven topics addressing the current and future changes in the landscape of cancer care.

The 2018 Fall meeting will center on the multi-disciplinary presentations and case studies in Neoadjuvant Breast Cancer, CLL, and Hereditary Genetics focusing on Prostate Cancer which include the collaboration of top clinicians, as well as up-to-date information on Healthcare Disparities. Additional sessions include information on hot topics in nursing, patient navigation, pharmacy, and administration.

CONFERENCE OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of the conference you will be able to:

1. Discuss new treatment options of Neoadjuvant Breast Cancer, CLL, and Prostate Cancer giving the different perspectives of multi-disciplinary physicians.
2. Learn the new innovations in hereditary genetics.
3. Explain the importance of oral oncologics, medical marijuana, and revenue integrity for oncology pharmacists.
4. Learn the effects of oncology care on cardiovascular health. Explain the importance of clinical trial options in a patient's care plan.
5. Learn strategies to better perform when having difficult conversations with coworkers and patients.

CONFERENCE OUTCOME MEASURES:

Participants should be able to apply the knowledge acquired during this conference to improve their competence, performance, and/or patient outcomes in the daily treatment of their patients. To measure attendees perceptions of these gains, they will complete an evaluation form at the end of the conference.

This conference is proudly co-sponsored by the following companies:
