SGO

Erica Takimoto, DO
Florida Hospital Cancer Center

STATEMENT:

My name is Erica Takimoto and I was the fortunate recipient of the FLASCO travel award in the Spring 2016 prior to completing my fellowship at Florida Hospital in Gynecologic Oncology in July of 2016. The funds provided by the FLASCO travel award allowed me to attend our National Society of Gynecologic Oncology Annual meeting as well as the Business of Oncology Summit at Gaylord Palms. This afforded me the opportunity to present my research poster at the national SGO meeting, as well as network and connect with our oncology colleagues throughout the state at the FLASCO meeting, where I learned a great deal regarding the business side of oncology. The presentations outlined current changes in business practice, and also what we can expect to be implemented with our ongoing healthcare climate. At the completion of the session, I felt better prepared for the changes to come. There was a wide variety of exhibitors at each Expo center who were excellent resources for information on everything from new drugs and symptom management, to patient clinical registries, better equipping up to take the best possible care of our patients. I am thankful for the opportunity presented by FLASCO, and I am happy to see the ongoing support for young oncology fellows from the state of Florida.

ASH

Aixa E. Soyano Muller, MD
Mayo Clinic Florida

BIOGRAPHY:

Dr. Soyano Muller was born and raised in Caracas, Venezuela in a medically focused family. Both her parents and older brother are physicians, thus she has been interested in medicine since she was very young. She started her medical education in October 2002 by attending the Luis Razetti School of Medicine at Universidad Central de Venezuela. During Medical school she did a 3-month away rotation in the indigenous community of Wonken, near the Amazon jungle, helping the most needed communities. After graduation she worked as a rural physician as well as a physician assistant in a private hematology practice in Caracas. All these experiences have been enriching and have given her the opportunity to learn to adapt to different environments.

In 2012 she got married and came to the US to start her Internal Medicine Residency Program at St. Elizabeth's Medical Center in Boston, MA. She graduated in 2015 and moved to Jacksonville to start her Hem/Onc fellowship in July 2015 at Mayo Clinic Florida. In September 2015, she was blessed with having a beautiful baby boy. This last year has been exciting and challenging. She has given love and devotion to her family while at the same time she has been enthusiastic and dedicated to learning and to giving the best medical and humane experience possible to her patients.

Amrita Desai, MD, MPH
University of Miami

BIOGRAPHY:

Dr. Amrita Desai is currently a third year fellow in the research track in the Department of Hematology/Oncology at the Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center, University of Miami. She has a background in Clinical Pharmacology from India and an MPH from Harvard T. H. Chan School of Public Health. Her research is focused in understating the immunological aspects of hematopoietic stem cell transplant and identifies ways to improve the GVL effects while ameliorating GVHD. Her long long-term career goal is to be a translational researcher in the field of hematopoietic stem cell transplantation.

ASH continued

Andrew Kuykendall, MD
Moffitt Cancer Center

BIOGRAPHY:

Andrew Kuykendall grew up in Tampa, Florida and completed his undergraduate training with a major in economics at Wake Forest University in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. He returned to the state to obtain his medical degree from the University of Florida in Gainesville followed by a residency in Internal Medicine at the University of South Florida in Tampa. Currently, he is a second year Hematology and Oncology fellow at USF at Moffitt Cancer Center. Dr. Kuykendall is actively involved in research focusing on myeloid diseases, specifically myelofibrosis and other myeloproliferative neoplasms. Throughout his training, he has been actively involved in organized medicine and has served in local leadership roles as well as on national committees for the Florida Medical Association, American Medical Association, and American College of Physicians.

Arjun Mitra, MBBS
Mayo Clinic Florida

BIOGRAPHY:

Arjun Mitra, MD is currently a fellow in Hematology/ Oncology at the Mayo Clinic in Jacksonville, Florida. After completing medical school in Mumbai, India, Dr. Mitra pursued postdoctoral fellowships in gastrointestinal and breast cancers at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center and the University of Southern California. He then trained in Internal Medicine at Presbyterian Hospital Dallas before joining the Mayo Clinic.

In an effort to increase engagement among physicians, clinicians and administration, the FLASCO Board of Directors initiated the 100% Membership Program. This page is to recognize the most recent participating facilities.

The Florida Society of Clinical Oncology MOST RECENT 100% Membership Partners!

Holy Cross Hospital, Michael & Dianne Bienes Comprehensive

Cancer Center is a state-of-the-art facility in Broward County (South Florida) that provides their physicians with access to national resources to treat all types of cancer, including but not limited to breast cancer, colon cancer, lung cancer, pancreatic cancer and prostate cancer.

Suncoast Cancer Institute is an oncology and hematology practice in Sarasota, Florida, specializing in the diagnosis and treatment of cancer and blood disorders. Their mission is to improve the lives of those in their community that are impacted by cancer and blood diseases by providing evidence based, compassionate, personalized, state of the art care.

Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center, University of Miami is a university-based cancer center. Sylvester physicians and scientists apply research breakthroughs from the laboratory to the patient's bedside. Sylvester closely evaluates the effectiveness of new treatments, and shares clinical insights with laboratory investigators, leading to improvements that benefit patient care. This type of translational research is the cornerstone of our comprehensive cancer center, providing us the ability to accurately treat a wide range of cancers across 15 site diseases and from stage one to stage four. Sylvester patients also have the opportunity to participate in groundbreaking clinical trials that offer new treatment approaches and help the scientific community answer questions about new ways of using existing drugs to fight cancer.

Key Note Speaker

Diana Jordan

Healthcare & Wellness Speaker & Humorist

“The Healing Power of Laughter”

OBJECTIVES:

1. Understand ASCO strategies
2. Understand ASCO opportunities
3. Review past victories

BIOGRAPHY:

Having entertained over a million people live and on television, Diana Jordan came to realize that by making people laugh, she helped them deal with life's stresses, motivated them, and taught them what she'd learned over the past 25 years about how great laughter is in nourishing yourself and changing your outlook on life.

Diana has toured the country many times over as an extremely successful stand up comedian and successful author. She is also a cancer survivor and speaks of her journey to many cancer organizations and events nationwide. In Diana's Keynote address, motivational messages ring loud and true about how we can make the choice to be happy, find the funny in your life, taking responsibility for your own health, ways to bust stress and in doing just these four things can make a happier, healthier, and more productive you! And it's funny too!

Diana has been nominated by the American Comedy Awards as one of the Top Five Female Comedians in the country. She's been seen on Showtime, Showtime Specials, HBO, ComedyCentral, VH1, and many more. Diana has also used her talent as a writer in a hilarious best selling book which was featured on Oprah called, "A Wife's Little Instruction Book, Your Survival Guide To Marriage Without Bloodshed!" which has sold over 500,000 copies. Motivational speaking was a natural transition for Diana. She realized her gift and talent for comedy was much needed around the country. For the last two decades Diana has also headlined America's top comedy clubs and entertained our troops overseas. For over a year she performed her widely popular one-woman-show, "Female, Fertile, and Frustrated!" which she Wrote, Produced, Directed, and Starred in at the world famous Ice House Comedy Club in Pasadena, California. "Female, Fertile, and Frustrated!" is still the longest running one person show in the forty year history of The Ice House. No longer FERTILE, Diana makes light of getting older and using humor to cope with being a breast cancer survivor. "When my Reconstruction Surgeon ask me if I wanted to go up a cup size or two I told him, 'let me put it this way, when I fly I want to be the flotation device!'"

Diana studied Improv comedy many years in "Off the wall" classes with classmate Robin Williams (whom she also dated) and has been under contract to the CBS Network and Twentieth Century Fox for her own sit-com which she also wrote and a member of SAG, AFTRA, The National Speakers Association, and The Writers Guild of America. She has opened in concert around the country for major stars as well as at The Kennedy Center, Garden State Arts Center, and Radio City Music Hall. She has also been Master of Ceremonies for many gala events with such prestigious Speakers as Former Secretary of State, General Colin Powell and Yolanda King, daughter of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Diana can also be seen in her co-starring role in "Loretta's Surprise" which was at the Sundance Film Festival and Director Cameron Crowe hand picked her to be in the divorced women's group in the Oscar nominated movie 'Jerry Macguire' with Tom Cruise. You'll see her sitting next to Cruise during the now famous "You complete me" and "You had me at hello" scenes! Cruise says, "Diana is funny and smart, she 'had me at her first joke!"

A world traveler, Diana has lived in Greece, Hawaii, Chicago, Atlanta, Las Vegas, and even 'starved' while working as a waitress in New York to get a job on Broadway. She never gives up!

“Evaluation of Circulating Tumor Cells (CTC) and Exosomes in NSCLC: Are we ready for the clinic?”

OBJECTIVES:

- 1. To gain knowledge of the circulating tumor cell (CTC) assays.
- 2. To acquire a basic understanding of the role of exosomes.

BIOGRAPHY:

Jhanelle E. Gray, MD, is a Medical Oncologist in the Department of Thoracic Oncology and the Director of Thoracic Clinical Research at H. Lee Moffitt Cancer Center and Research Institute in Tampa, Florida. She received her undergraduate degree from the University of Florida and her medical degree from Cornell University Medical College in New York City. Following her internship and residency in Internal Medicine at Cornell, Dr. Gray returned to Florida and completed her Medical Oncology Fellowship at Moffitt. She is a faculty member in the Department of Thoracic Oncology at Moffitt Cancer Center where she has been practicing since 2007.

Although Dr. Gray focuses her clinical attentions on lung cancer, she is also deeply involved in clinical research. She is the lead investigator on many thoracic clinical trials especially research investigating novel drug combinations and personalized treatment to advance the fight against lung cancer. As the Director of Thoracic Clinical Research in the Department of Thoracic Oncology, Dr. Gray directly supervises and manages 21 team members, (including 10 clinical research coordinators, 7 research data specialists, and 2 regulatory specialists, a clinical research manager and a clinical research navigator). Dr. Gray leads the restructuring and development of our clinical trial portfolio and assignment (which currently includes 25 clinical trials with active patients and 15 planned clinical trials currently undergoing regulatory and contracts review). In this role, she fosters the clinical trial development through intra- and extramural collaborations between our medical, surgical, and radiation oncologists, research scientists, pathologists, and epidemiologists in the Department of Thoracic Oncology.

In addition to treating patients and serving as the lead investigator on many thoracic clinical trials, Dr. Gray is an active member of a number of committees at Moffitt, ranging from evaluation of minority accruals in clinical trials to integration of translational research in Phase I and Phase II clinical trials.

“The Role of Liquid Biopsy in the Diagnosis & Management of Lung Cancer”

OBJECTIVES:

- 1. Identify different technologies for liquid biopsy.
- 2. Understand the role of liquid biopsy in identifying molecular targets in lung cancer.

BIOGRAPHY:

Tarek Mekhail, MD, a surgeon turned thoracic oncologist, uses his unique background to improve the care he provides to patients at Florida Hospital. By reviewing each case from both a surgical and therapeutic perspective, Dr. Mekhail determines the best treatment approach for each patient’s individual condition. In fact, Dr. Mekhail embraces his role as both doctor and counselor, getting to know each patient personally to develop a lifelong relationship. Through this relationship, he speaks openly and directly about treatment options and life-long care plans.

After attending medical school at Cairo University, he began his medical career as a surgeon in the United Kingdom. Then, Dr. Mekhail completed his medical oncology fellowship at the Cleveland Clinic in Cleveland, Ohio. His transition to oncology took his focus from performing surgery to providing comprehensive care for patients, a duty he takes seriously. In fact, he’ll tell you that the most rewarding difference is seeing the impact his care makes in each patient’s life.

Today, Dr. Mekhail leads the Thoracic Oncology Program at Florida Hospital Cancer Institute as medical director and works as an assistant professor at the University of Central Florida. He specializes in treating lung cancer (thoracic cancer), kidney cancer, head/neck cancer and aero-digestive malignancies. As evidence of his dedication to each and every patient’s life-long treatment, Dr. Mekhail has been voted one of the Best Doctors in America for several years in a row.

Edgardo S. Santos, MD, FACP

Medical Director of Cancer Research, Thoracic and Head and Neck Cancer Programs, Lynn Cancer Institute

Associate Professor of Clinical Biomedical Science, Charles E. Schmidt College of Medicine, Florida Atlantic University

FLASCO Program Committee Vice Chairman & Board Member

“The Role of NGS in Blood”

OBJECTIVES:

1. Understand the indications for liquid biopsy.
2. Apply results from NGS into clinical practice.
3. Understand the methodology of NGS in blood.

BIOGRAPHY:

Edgardo S. Santos, MD, FACP, is a well-established thoracic surgeon with an impressive academic career and a remarkably diversified professional journey. Educated in Panama and the United States, he is currently performing at an outstanding level of quality in several key roles across Florida. Dr. Santos is the Medical Director of Cancer Research and Co-leader of the Thoracic and Head & Neck Cancer programs at The Eugene M. & Christine E. Lynn Cancer Institute of Boca Raton Regional Hospital in Boca Raton, Florida. Furthermore, he is a board certified oncologist with the Center for Hematology-Oncology in Boca Raton, Florida, and serves on staff of several local hospitals, including Bethesda Hospital in Boynton Beach, Florida, and Delray Medical Center in Delray Beach, Florida. Established in 1995, The Center for Hematology-Oncology is on a mission to provide high quality, state-of-the-art, medical care to patients with cancer and blood disorders. Dr. Santos also has an active academic life through his roles as an Affiliate Associate Professor of Biomedical Clinical Medicine at Charles E. Schmidt College of Medicine of Florida Atlantic University. He is a fellow of the American College of Physicians and has held numerous and varied positions throughout his career with well-established education and healthcare providers, such as the University of Miami Leonard M. Miller School of Medicine in Miami, Florida, Tulane University Health Sciences Center - Tulane University School of Medicine in New Orleans, Louisiana, and Southeast Louisiana Veterans Healthcare System, also in New Orleans. Dr. Santos areas of expertise are hematology-oncology, thoracic oncology, and lung cancer. As a hematologist and oncologist, he deals with the diagnosis, prevention, and treatment of various types of malignancies, which entails therapy, pathology of cancer in a person, screening, and palliative care. For more information about Dr. Edgardo S. Santos, please visit www.brrh.com or <http://centerforhemonc.com>.

The Eugene M. & Christine E. Lynn Cancer Institute stands among the largest cancer centers in South Florida. Accredited as a Comprehensive Cancer Center by the American College of Surgeons, The Center works in partnership with the Moffitt Oncology Network, the only National Cancer Institute Comprehensive Cancer Center in Florida, which also secures the Lynn Cancer Institute as one of the top facilities for innovation and excellence. The Lynn Cancer Institute handles the care of more than 3,000 cancer patients each year in facilities such as the Harvey & Phyllis Sandler Pavilion as well as our other respective satellite locations in Delray Beach. Lynn Cancer Center is served by more than 20 oncology physicians and a full complement of oncology professionals on staff. Subsequently, patients receive treatment and services from specialists in genetics, surgery, radiation oncology, medical oncology, pathology and imaging. In addition, the staff includes research nurses, who improve patient access to clinical trials and the most advanced forms of treatment. Lynn Cancer Institute differentiates itself from other similar establishments through its unique approach to multimodality care. “Each multimodality team is comprised of physicians and healthcare professionals who specialize in a specific site of cancer. The team is able to develop standards of care for the specific disease site it treats. These standards reflect the most advanced technology and current treatments available. This simplifies the entire process for our patients, from diagnosis and treatment, to Wellness and Survivorship programs and allows our patients to focus on one thing – recovery”, states the official website of Lynn Cancer Center. For additional information, please visit www.brrh.com.

Edgardo S. Santos, MD, commenced his foray in medicine in 1994 when he acquired his doctorate of medicine from the University of Panama School of Medicine in Panama City, Panama, his native country. He additionally completed his first year of internship at Complejo Hospitalario Metropolitano in Panama City, second year of his internship at Santiago Regional Hospital in Veraguas, Panama, and his internal medicine residency at Complejo Hospitalario Metropolitano. In 1998, Dr. Santos relocated to the United States where he served additional internal medicine internship and residency training at Jackson Memorial Medical Center in Miami, Florida. He also completed fellowship training in hematology and medical oncology at the University of Miami & Jackson Memorial Medical Center, Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center. Dr. Edgardo S. Santos is certified in internal medicine and holds sub-specialty certifications in hematology and medical oncology from the American Board of Internal Medicine. A distinguished member of the International Association for the Study of Lung Cancer, he is also a prolific author with many of his works published. Dr. Santos attributes his success to his unwavering dedication and hard work. Furthermore, he has recently been selected by The International Association of HealthCare Professionals (IAHCP) to be published in the premier publication of The Leading Physicians of the World. An avid reader of the Thoracic Oncology Journal, he loves tennis and basketball and devotes his spare time to these two preferred activities. For more information about Dr. Edgardo S. Santos, please visit www.brrh.com or <http://centerforhemonc.com>.

University Distinguished Professor of Breast Cancer,

Adm. Director, the Johns Hopkins Breast Center

Adm. Director, Johns Hopkins Cancer Survivorship Programs

Departments of Surgery and Oncology

Professor, JHU School of Medicine, Departments of Surgery, Oncology and Gynecology

Co-founder, JH Medicine's Managing Cancer at Work

“The Art Of Active Listening:

Communicating Emotionally Charged or Difficult News”

OBJECTIVES:

1. To enhance the healthcare professionals communication skills when delivering a new and/or serious diagnosis and handling difficult questions.
2. To apply empathetic counseling skills with patients facing serious health consequences.
3. To formulate sensitive responses to patients adjusting to or effected by the diagnosis.
4. To support patients so they are better able to understand their medical status and participate in their own care.

BIOGRAPHY:

Lillie D. Shockney has been the administrative director of the Johns Hopkins Breast Center since 1997. A two-time breast cancer survivor, Lillie has worked tirelessly to improve the care of breast cancer patients around the world. She is a registered nurse with a Bachelor of Science degree in health care administration from Saint Joseph's College and a Masters in Administrative Science from the Johns Hopkins University. She has worked at Johns Hopkins since 1983. She is also certified as a breast imaging and breast cancer patient navigator. Beginning the end of 2011, she accepted the inaugural role as director of the Johns Hopkins cancer survivorship programs for the Kimmel Cancer Center at Johns Hopkins.

Lillie is a published author and nationally recognized public speaker on the subject of breast cancer. She has written 14 books and more than 250 articles on this subject. She serves on the medical advisory board of several national breast cancer organizations and is the co-founder and vice president of a national non-profit organization called Mothers Supporting Daughters with Breast Cancer.

Lillie is also editor-in-chief of a new peer-reviewed medicine journal called Journal of Oncology Navigation and Survivorship, which launched in Spring 2011. She also serves as the chairman of the Leadership Council of the Academy of Oncology Nurse Navigators (AONN), a national organization that provides a network for all professionals involved and interested in patient navigation and survivorship care services to better manage the complexities of the cancer care treatment continuum for their patients. This is a professional organization she co-founded in 2009. Beginning in July 2012, she accepted the leadership role of Program Director of AONN.

She is the consultant for breast cancer for national ABC News and Good Morning America, and is also consulted regularly by the Today Show and CNN. She is an active lecturer on various topics related to breast cancer and spoke at the 2010 World Economic Forum, which will featured her lecture, “The Cancer Paradigm Shift: Who Will Take Care of the Breast Cancer Survivors?”.

Lillie serves as “Ask an Expert” for several breast cancer websites, including the Johns Hopkins Breast Center, among others. She also is an active clinical researcher with a focus on quality of life issues for survivors, as well as a strong advocate of the value of humor as a beneficial form of complementary medicine. View Lillie's online seminar, Breast Cancer Detection and Treatment: What All Women Should Know.

In 2008, the Johns Hopkins Board of Trustees appointed her to a chair as a University Distinguished Service Assistant Professor of Breast Cancer. This is the first time in the history of the institution that a hospital nurse has been appointed to a distinguished service designation. Ms. Shockney has recently been promoted to full professor in the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine. She is the first nurse in the country to have a primary appointment in the school of medicine and achieved the highest academic rank of full professor in surgery and oncology and also University Distinguished Service Professor of Breast Cancer.

In an effort to increase engagement among physicians, clinicians and administration (including attendance at events), the FLASCO Board of Directors agreed to extend complimentary membership through December 31, 2018 for physicians, nurse practitioners, physician assistants and office staff from practices, academic centers and hospitals in the oncology community.

The Florida Society of Clinical Oncology

FLASCO was formed as a statewide 501(c) (3) nonprofit organization committed to facilitating and promoting multidisciplinary efforts to improve patient care in Florida. FLASCO continues to make strides in promoting excellence in care of patients afflicted with cancer and hematologic disorders and leads efforts to respond to policies and legislation that threaten to compromise patient access to quality cancer care. FLASCO is gaining momentum as more professionals use us as the catalyst to develop partnerships, share knowledge, and stand together to demonstrate strength and determination to move forward in the battle against cancer.

FLASCO consists of over 2,100 members that include physicians and their supporting staff, allied healthcare, and industry representatives that represent the oncology professionals of Florida. FLASCO will continue to be recognized as a nationally respected state professional society as we stand together as “the Voice of Oncology in Florida”.

Thank YOU for Attending

FLASCO was formed as a statewide 501(c) (3) nonprofit organization committed to facilitating and promoting multidisciplinary efforts to improve patient care in Florida. FLASCO continues to make strides in promoting excellence in care of patients afflicted with cancer and hematologic disorders and leads efforts to respond to policies and legislation that threaten to compromise patient access to quality cancer care. FLASCO is gaining momentum as more professionals use us as the catalyst to develop partnerships, share knowledge, and stand together to demonstrate strength and determination to move forward in the battle against cancer.

FLASCO consists of over 2,100 members that include physicians and their supporting staff, allied healthcare, and industry representatives that represent the oncology professionals of Florida. FLASCO will continue to be recognized as a nationally respected state professional society as we stand together as “the Voice of Oncology in Florida”.
